Our research focuses on protein engineering and genetic engineering for novel biocatalysts, biomaterials, and therapeutics for neurodegenerative diseases. We utilize protein engineering tools to address diverse issues in:

- Design of novel biocatalysts with improved catalytic properties, biopharmaceuticals with a prolonged serum half-life, and biomaterials with unique chemical and physical properties.